WHOLE TOWN OF FAIRLESS HILLS GOES TO A PARTY

Over 500 at Community Halloween Party At Penn Manor Club

DANHERST CORP. HOST

First Baby Girl's Parents Are Awarded A $100 Defense Bond

By Staff Reporter

Fun and frolic for young and old was the order of the evening at the gala Halloween party given by the Danherst Corp. for residents of the town of Fairless Hills last evening in the Penn Manor Club. A $100 defense bond was presented to the parents of the first baby girl born in Fairless. Prizes were presented to the small fry and dancing for the older folks made the evening a lively one. It was an unique affair in which a whole town went to a party.

A $100 defense savings bond was presented to Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Manns of 105 Bedford road, Fairless Hills, parents of Rose Marie Manns. Rose Marie was born a week ago and the bond was presented by John W. Galbreath, president of the Danherst Corp.

Mr. Galbreath said that there was still another $100 bond to be given to the first baby boy born to parents residing in Fairless Hills. The parents thanked Mr. Galbreath for the gift and also expressed their appreciation to all the residents of the town for the many things done for them.

Residents of Fairless Hills attended the Halloween party with the employees of the Danherst Corp. acting as hosts. The young fry were in the basement where they enjoyed games and good things to eat, while the older folk were upstairs square dancing. A nursery was set up for the real young under

LEVITT HOUSES MAKE ATTRACTIVE APPEARANCE

Pleasant street pattern is achieved by skillful variation in the positions and treatments applied to the basic house plan. The effect is created by varying the position of the carport and storage area in relation to the house. Doing this meant the Levitts had to provide a 70-foot-wide lot, the first time such frontage has been offered on a house in this price class. Next spring these will be built at the rate of 150 a week in the defense area of Bucks county.

BUCKS COUNTY TAXES

The tax rate of Bucks County is unusually low. It is only six mills—one mill for the institutional taxes, and five mills for general county purposes.

Yet so well has the county been administered by the succession of Republican governments that this low tax rate has been sufficient to care for all services and still accumulate a cash balance.

Cash on hand at the end of 1950 amounted to $170,305.85, not counting the sum of $20,541.85 in the sinking fund where it was being accumulated to pay off the only remaining bonded debt of the county—$32,000 due next March.

The significance of such a cash balance is well shown in the case of the new office space necessitated by creation of a third judgeship in the county, and other expansions of the county government.

New quarters had to be found. Under some circumstances this might have been a big financial hurdle to overcome. Building a new and enlarged courthouse at this particular time would have been a costly undertaking. So would the issuance of bonds to create a new debt for the purchase or erection of office space.

In Bucks County's case, however, this all was taken in stride, with no new cost to the taxpayers.

From the cash balance, money was appropriated to buy the Scheetz Building, a store fronting on Monument

LAND SUB-DIVISION MUST BE APPROVED

County Planning Commission Seeks to Regulate the Dividing of Land in Co.

OKAY LEVITT TRACT

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 1. — Land sub-dividers in Bucks County will have to get approval from the Bucks County Planning Commission in the future. The Planning Commission unanimously approved a resolution to that effect at a meeting, Tuesday, in the County Administration Building Annex. According to the resolution, future sub-division plans will not be recorded without the approval of the planning commission.

The commission also gave its OK to plans for 700 homes in Lower Bucks County on which the Levitt Co. will soon begin construction. The homes will be built in three sections and will be preliminary to the 16,000-home project which the company will eventually complete in Falls and Bristol townships and Tullytown Borough. All of the first 700 homes will be in Bristol Township and a small portion in Tullytown Borough.

Sub-division regulations drawn by the planning commission in consultation with the firm of McHugh & McCroskey, planning consultants, were discussed at Tuesday's meeting but final approval of the regulations was not given.

Arthur Reed, of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board, was a visitor at the meeting. Reed cautioned the commission to give the sub-division

HOSPITALIZED

Christopher Cockett, Newport road, West Bristol, was removed to Abington Hospital yesterday morning in an ambulance of Bucks County Rescue Squad.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. — The nation's biggest home builder will put on the market a three-bedroom, ranch-type house that will sell for $9,990 on a 70-by-100-foot lot in the critical defense area of Bucks county, Pennsylvania. It was announced today by Levitt and Sons, Inc. The price will include such "extras" as a completely equipped kitchen, including automatic washing machine and such familiar Levitt community facilities as swimming pools, parks, ball diamonds and church sites, according to the creators of Levittown, L. L. A post-war town of 60,000.

The house, jam-packed with features ordinarily found only in more costly dwellings, will be the backbone of Levittown, Pa., a 16,000-home defense community near U. S. Steel's Fairless Works on the Delaware river.

A unique three-way fireplace, a double-duty room with a sliding wall, generous use of thermopane picture windows, and automatically-controlled radiant heating are among the 30-odd features that distinguish the home.

Savings effected by ingenious layout and design factors, plus long-established Levitt assembly-line building techniques, overcome higher costs of the out-size lot and added features, William J. Levitt, president of the firm, explained.

There will be no monotonous duplication of exteriors on a Levittown street. The houses are treated with four different facades, and additional variety will be achieved by varying the relative position of house and carport, and by each house's placement on its generous 70-100 lot. Cost savings achieved by mass production from a basic floor plan are retained, however, the builder said. Although houses in other price ranges will be built in the new garden community for industrial workers, this basic house is the one that will predominate, because of its popular size and price bracket.

Economic and flexible use of space, plenty of storage and privacy from the street are key features.

MANY "FIRSTS"

By Staff Correspondent

FAIRLESS HILLS, Nov. 1.—There were many "firsts" chalked up in this, Bucks County's newest community, this morning, on the occasion of the opening and dedication of the new "Fairless Hills" post office.

It was not only the first day the new post office was placed in use, and the time for "first day cancellations," but—

"Twas the first post office opened so shortly after an entire new community of 1045 houses was erected in Bucks County, and—

"Twas possibly the first time in history that a woman postmaster was carried through ankle-deep mud, in a torrential rain so that she might officially raise the American flag. But the postmaster, Mrs. Catharine Ottolini, had "company," for some local officials, minus boots, reached the flag-pole "pick-a-back" style when booted-men volunteered for the job of "carriers."

DEDICATE POSTOFFICE AT FAIRLESS HILLS

U. S. Steel Co., Danherst Corp. and Guest Postmasters Attend

IN HEAVY DOWNPOUR

By Staff Reporter

FAIRLESS HILLS, Nov. 1.—A score of people braved a torrential downpour here this morning to witness the ceremony marking the official opening of the new Fairless Hills post office. The day was "doubly auspicious," for it also marked the official assignment of the name "Fairless Hills" to the post office here, bringing it in line with the name accorded the community of new homes, and time for "first day cancellations."

Not only were officials of the Danherst Corporation present, but the superintendent of the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Company, and visiting postmasters from nearby communities, all of whom extended congratulations to Mrs. Catharine Ottolini, Fairless Hills postmaster. Singly, and by twos and threes, those anxious to witness the ceremony sloshed in through the rain and mud, and once inside the new postoffice, located next to the Union Supply Co. store, on Hulmeville road, they found bulbs flashing by the dozen as the affair was recorded for "movie" and still cameras.

On duty with Mrs. Ottolini was Mrs. Clifford Watson, assistant postmaster here. John Galbreath, president of Danherst Corporation, received from Mrs. Ottolini the first two letters carrying "Fairless Hills" cancellation stamp. The first air-mail letter was dispatched by Daniel Galbreath, vice-president of the corporation, and a son of John Galbreath. Also in attendance was another member of the Galbreath family, Dean, brother of John.

Following the flag-raising, which took place during an exceedingly heavy rain, in front of the postoffice, with Mrs. Ottolini raising the banner, there was a brief, informal program indoors. John Galbreath said: "I am delighted to be

JOHN SMOYER, III'S ALIBI

Taking advantage of a business men's conference on the question of enlarging Bristol's parking lot, John Smoyer III, president of Borough Council, last week popped off with a bit of political wise-cracking, trying to bolster up his campaign for re-election.

For four years the voters of Bristol, and especially those of the Sixth Ward where he hails from, have been wondering what has become of the program of marvels which Mr. Smoyer promised when he was running for office back in 1947.

At that time, and again in 1949, he and his friends were going to overhaul and streamline this community, do everything from putting spring water in every faucet to smoothing out all the so-called "broken-back" streets — and do it without boosting taxes.

The tune they played at that time was that the succession of previous administrations, which had done so much for the community, ought to have done more and would have, if they hadn't been so stingy with the taxpayers' dollars.

Now we are less than a week from the day of reckoning—which is election day, next Tuesday. It appears to have occurred to Mr. Smoyer that his Sixth Ward constituents would like to have an accounting of stewardship — like to have something more from him than his record of quarrels, inaction and false-starts.

So he trotted out his alibi.

Asked whether the Borough government would be willing to help the Mill Street Business Men's Association enlarge the parking area in the borough-owned ground back of Mill street, he said, as reported by a Philadelphia newspaper, that "the municipality was financially unable to cope with an influx of newcomers to the area"

COUNCIL ACCEPTS PROPOSED LAW TO ZONE THE BOROUGH

Will Hold Public Hearing On A Date Approved By Solicitor

WILL BE THIS MONTH

Councilmen Not Sure of The Interpretation of Law For Hearing

Borough council, last night, accepted the proposed zoning ordinance from the zoning commission and tentatively set one of two dates, November 13th or Nov. 28th, for a public hearing, subject to the approval of the borough solicitor. There being a difference of opinion among the councilmen as to the interpretation of the law, in regard to the time which must elapse between the public hearing and the time when council can consider the proposed ordinance, the two dates were chosen. Council met in special session to hear the report of the zoning commission.

After council convened there were brief remarks by Burgess I. J. Hetherington, Sr., in which he expressed regret that some of those now sitting as councilmen are not candidates for re-election. He complimented them for their long terms of service, mentioning James Eagan, John Wiesner and Clarence Winter.

The motion to have council accept the ordinance was made by James Eagan, who has fathered zoning all through its troublesome times. The vote was unanimous. Councilmen absent were Gosline and Roche.

Previous to the acceptance of the proposed ordinance, Harold Hanson, chairman of the zoning commission, told council of the commission being named two years ago and of the failure of the first proposed ordinance to pass. Then the ordinance was revised and two more public hearings held with little interest demonstrated on the part of the public. Mr. Hanson said that one suggestion had been received by telephone asking that Zone R3, Radcliffe street, between Market and Mulberry streets, be changed to a commercial zone. The commission rejected the suggestion.

THE DANGER OF BEAUTY

This is the time of year when poets concoct their most beautiful phrases about the autumnal garb of nature. Water colorists and oil painters work like mad, capturing on paper and canvas the splendor of the trees.

And there are few sights to rival the scene of a highway or road veneered with the galaxy of red, yellow and orange-brown leaves that have glided down from their branches in this ballet of autumn.

But a danger lurks on such streets and highways. The thin covering of leaves is enough to send the vehicle of the most cautious driver into a spin that may end up on a pavement or into the trunk of a tree—or against a human body.

The danger is sometimes greater than hazards of ice and snow.
Drivers recognize the dangers of both. But many drivers are not aware of the trickery of fallen leaves, particularly after a slight rain or a heavy autumnal morning mist.

It is not always possible for property owners to clear away the leaves immediately and it is weeks before they have blown away or have been pulverized by traffic. So, while lunging into superlatives about the beauty of autumn, keep your eyes on the leaf covered highways and your hands on the wheel. There's danger lurking in spite of that splash
of color ahead of the car.

In the interplanetary rocket age the earth's population problems may be solved if Mars allows immigration.

Considering all the "raucous" contention these days, it is not at all certain that the citizen who has lost his hearing is handicapped.

Some sections of the country have already been plagued by severe cold. But hope that Indian Summer will still put in an appearance fingers on.

For every seven persons engaged in crime, according to the FBI, there is one engaged in reading school, which pays better.

quint of chrysanthemums, and other gifts.
Hallowe'en was a big night here,
not only for residents of this borough, but also for those from surrounding communities who jammed
the streets to witness the parade,
enjoy the program of songs, dances,
and instrumental music, and to watch the awarding of prizes, donated by various merchants and business firms to the winners in the window painting contest.

Two local organizations were sponsors of the festivities, namely
the Associated Business Men of Pennel, and the Langhorne Lions Club. Serving as masters of ceremonies while the few hundred kiddies marched by the reviewing stand to vie for costume prizes, were Burgess Joseph A. Downing, Sr., and Ernest Heilman. Then, as 50 lucky children made their way
onto the platform when requested,
each was awarded a new $1 bill
for outstanding costumes.

The kiddies in the parade provided not only a cross-section of the nations of the world, but of American life, in their attractive, unusual and sometimes weird costumes. There was "The Thing," a television set mounted on the head of a masquerader, the face seen through the glass being that of a cow; Mickey Mouse; a Chinaman; Dagmar; "Bugs Bunny," two-faced woman, cowgirls, hobos, Dutch girls, clowns, witches with brooms, sailors, football players, and so on.
The parade left the railroad freight station here at about eight o'clock, the marchers making their way two blocks on Bellevue avenue, south of the highway. In the line of march, in addition to the masqueraders, were the Jesse W. Soby
Post Jr. Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps, and the Neshaminy high school band in their colorful uniforms. Pennel Fire Co., and a float, decked with cornstalks and golden ears of corn, the float, pulled by a tractor, bearing "Miss Philadelphia," the queen and her retinue in attractive pastel-toned formal gowns.

The Associated Business Men of Pennel and Langhorne Lions Club
also were sponsors of the window painting contest, and later the names of the winners in this contest were announced by Mr. Heil-man over the microphone. The awards included defense bonds, and gifts of merchandise, made possible by business firms. The business firms in this area also provided the paint, the platform, three savings bonds awarded the queen, and top winners in senior and junior high school window painting contest),
the refreshments of cider, cookies, pretzels; also floral crowns. Flood-lighting was through courtesy of firemen. The floodlights were mounted on the roof of a local store,
and were in turn "spotlighted" in various directions, as the events advanced.

The "Harvest Queen" and the court of honor were chosen by ballot during the past few weeks. To each young woman gifts were awarded. The quintet was introduced by John Watkins, newspaper publisher.

A Red Cross representative took up position nearby to accept names of those who offered to donate blood when the Bloodmobile visits
at Langhorne on Nov. 15th.

Special musical numbers by Neshaminy H. S. Band were directed by Stanley Howell. The Soby Post
Cadets also provided selections.

Appreciation of cooperation on the part of the public in making the affair such a success, was voiced by George Ambler, president of the Lions Club; and by Thomas Percotti, president of Associated Business Men.

For the specialty numbers which followed, given by pupils of "Peggy" Johnson, Gene Ralston served as announcer, with Miss Shirley Heilman accompanying several of the vocalists and dancers on the accordion.

Refreshments followed for the paraders; then street dancing to music by a few members of Penndel String Band, leader of which is Frank Weller.

"What a shindig! What a shindig!" exclaimed Master of Ceremonies Downing as the events progressed, and the few thousand clapped.

Winners of awards for window
painting contest follow:
Senior high students — Tenth grade: 1st, Window No. 10, Wool-man's Store, P. Pettyjohn, E. Cam-erson, P. Simon; 2nd, Window No.

those interested in the Bristol
Young Men's Christian Association.

The Adult Council of the Bristol
Y.M.C.A. has taken another step forward in the development of an interesting activity program for the young men and young girls in the Bristol vicinity. Miss Barbara Yerkes, coach of girl's sports at Bristol High School, will instruct all teen-age girls interested in basketball the fundamentals of the game.

This basketball clinic is to be held each Saturday morning 9:30
a. m. to 11:30 a. m. at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

A skating party has been planned
by the Ways and Means committee of the Adult Council. It will be held on November 15th at the Croydon Roller Rink. The public is cordially invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Adult Council or purchased at the box office. Proceeds received are to be used to facilitate the expansion program of the Y.M.C.A.

Early in November, the annual drive for membership into the Bristol Y.M.C.A. begins. The Bristol Chapter of the "Y" needs the subscriptions to membership of all adults and youngsters in the area.
It cannot flourish without adequate membership. Help make our Chapter expand. Please support the membership drive by joining the Bristol Y.M.C.A.

FEATHER STUFFING

NEW YORK—(INS)—Golf originally was played with a leather ball stuffed with feathers. Steelyards magazine says solid gutta percha balls replaced the leather ones in 1848. Modern golf balls date from the early 1900's.

ed a plane. They flew to Gander,
Newfoundland; Shannon, Ireland;
London, England and then to Frankfurt, Germany. They live about 100 miles from Frankfurt.

As the couple, who recently celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary, entered the church they walked down the aisle which was lighted by each person holding a flickering candle.

There was a tape recording of an airplane taking off which gave a sound effect and Mary Shively was dressed as an airplane stewardess. Ted Menszak acted as the custom's inspector and Ralph Gruver played a musical saw.

The Gauders were given a three-layer wedding cake during the refreshment period.

While here a month, the Rev. and Mrs. Gauer visited rural schools in order to see the American way of teaching and attended numerous clivic, religious and educational meetings to better understand American democracy.

The Rev. Gauer, who was in a Nazi concentration camp during the war, has a congregation of 1,600
members in his home German city.

We strive always to stock our stores with a wide choice of good foods that constitute good values. Then we leave it up to our customers to take their pick.

If there's anything we can do to give you better "freedom of choice" at your A&P, please let us know. Please write:

AUCTION DATE FOR FARM IS NOVEMBER 14

"Village Farm" To Go At "Absolute Auction," It is Announced

CONTAINS 462 ACRES

LANGHORNE, Nov. 1.—The latest news concerning the tremendous real estate development which is going on in the vicinity of the new U. S. Steel plant in Falls township is the announcement by Louis Truiman Auction company of Philadelphia that it will sell at absolute auction the 462 acre "Village Farm," one of the finest farms in America for the breeding of harness horses, which is located near here. It is owned by Gage B. Ellis.

One by one the great farms and large estates in this section of Lower Bucks County are giving way to the industrial and residential development. A new city of perhaps 60,000 population will be built a few miles from here to accommodate the thousands of families which will be employed by the new steel works and the many steel fabricators and other industries which will move into this new industrial district. Already many of the nation's leading developers and builders have started large operations.

The auction sale of the "Village Farm" real estate will be held on the premises Wednesday, November 14, at two p.m. The buildings will be open for public inspection Sunday, Nov. 11, to five p.m. The property is located on Woodbourne road about 2 1/2 miles north of Lincoln highway, a few minutes drive from the U. S. Steel plant in Falls Township.

It can be reached by taking U. S. route 1 to Woodbourne road, about a block east of the Langhorne speedway, and turning north 2 1/2 miles on Woodbourne road.

"Village Farm" was founded by its present owner, Gage B. Ellis, in 1927. There has always been a tradition of owning good horses in the Ellis family, stemming from Frank H. Ellis, grandfather of Gage, who raced on the Grand Circuit for over 50 years. During his long career, he and his trainer-driver Ben White campaigned such crack horses as Volga E-204 1/2, Lee Worthy 2-02 1/2, Princess Etawah 2-03 1/2, and many others. The farm was founded in honor of Mr. Ellis' memory two years after his death in 1925, and actually before Gage Ellis was of age.

Ever since its first days, Village Farm has meant a good deal more than just a breeding farm with a race track and fine pastures and the best breeding stock available. The farm has developed in accordance with definite goals and ideals which have pointed the way not only for its own progress, but also for the steady and sound advance of the whole standard bred industry. Some of the basic ideas behind the establishment of the place have, of course, been tested and discarded, but the majority have spread from the farm to wherever men race, breed or own horses. Such now-accepted ideas as early racing (May through July), more races for pacers, especially colts stakes, more opportunities for aged horses, night racing on half-mile tracks with pari-mutuels, one parent association for the United States, all these and many others were strongly advocated by Village Farm and its owner long before they were adopted.

RELIEF FOR ASTHMA SUFFERERS

Quick relief usually comes from the first dose of this new formula which acts to relieve congestion. People who formerly suffered with frightening choking, coughing, wheezing asthma attacks speak of welcome relief after using ASMACOL. ASMACOL costs $2.50, but considering the relief you will experience, the $2.50 is only a few pennies per dose. ASMACOL (caution, use only as directed) is sold with a money-back guarantee if not delighted with results. Sold only by PAI-MAR CUT BROS. 363 Mill St., Mail Order Filled.

More than 500 residents of Fairless Hills enjoyed the party which was given so that they might become better acquainted with each other. Everyone wore a tag with their first name on it, so that it was easy to get acquainted.

Earl Wilt acted as master of ceremonies for the floor show which was enjoyed by young and old, after which the children went back to the basement and square dancing was resumed by all. Invitations to the party and "ho-down" were issued through the mail, and long before the appointed evening acceptances were received from 300, exclusive of employees of Danherst Corporation, that firm sponsoring the affair.

Private cars traversed the highways between Fairless Hills and the club house, carrying partygoers, who followed maps issued by Danherst firm.

WALL PAINT

NEW YORK — (INS) — If walls are to be painted a first coat of fresh shellac will form a nice even base for the paint. The shellac will also prevent uneven absorption. Because shellac dries very quickly, the coat of paint can be applied the same day.

Let Fritters Add Variety To Mealtime

Crisp fritters may be a great aid to menus. First of all, there are the tasty meat types hearty enough for a lunch or dinner main course. Second, there are vegetable fritters designed to accompany the meat course. Third, there are fruit fritters that are ideal for desserts.

In preparing meat fritters, sliced, ground or cubed meat may be added to the fritter batter, according to Reba Staggs, home economist. The batter is dropped in deep lard (350 degrees F. to 375 degrees F.) and cooked until a delicate brown, then drained on absorbent paper. Ham and corn fritters are one example. In this case, ground cooked ham is combined with whole kernel corn, seasoned with minced onion and mixed with the batter.

In addition to corn fritters, vegetable fritters for accompanying the main course include sweet potatoes, carrot and turnips. A fruit version, banana fritters, are another tasty example for garnishing meat platters.

Others in the fruit fritter list to serve as dessert include peach, apple, pineapple or apricot. Frequently when served as dessert, they are sprinkled with confectioners' sugar and accompanied by a fruit sauce.

LEVITT HOUSES INVITE SUNSHINE INDOORS

Three-way brick fireplace, with its continuing wall, dominates the living room. Built-in bookcases above mantel separate this area from kitchen, but clear space above allows free passage of air and light. Large window wall in living room as well as dining area (shown at left), are of double-panel Thermopane.

Levitt Houses To Be Very Attractive

tures of the basic house designed by Alfred Levitt, head of production and design for the firm. Novel use of a sliding wall creates an "all-purpose" room adjacent to the living area. Opening the partition provides a nine-foot extension to the 18-foot-long living room. Closing converts the area to a study, den, playroom, or bedroom, depending on the family needs.

Besides ample shelf and closet space in the kitchen and a 70-square-foot storage room adjoining the carport, the house has five full closets plus a large wall unit in the bathroom with sliding mirror-doors instead of the traditional "medicine" cabinet. Space for a powder room or an additional "half bath" is fitted with rough plumbing for economical conversion by the owner.

A number of highly functional features have been carried over from the firm's 17,500-home development of Levittown, L. I., now nearing completion. High window sills not only provide greater bedroom privacy, but save valuable wall space for furniture placement. Additional space is saved by substituting floor-to-ceiling glass doors, which slide on a metal track, for the more usual type of swinging closet doors. These attractive screens have also been adopted to separate the dining area from the kitchen and offer privacy from the street.

Other features of the house include a powerful exhaust fan which instantly discharges cooking odors from the kitchen; recessed ceiling lighting; built-in closet shelving; cross-ventilation in the two larger bedrooms; aluminum-framed sliding windows, easily removable for washing in the sink; a two-tone washproof paint that is sprayed on in one operation; easy-to-maintain asphalt tile floors, and large brick flower-boxes with trellis in the front yard.

Construction of street, sewer and water systems, shops and material depots are now under way. Full-scale home-building at a minimum of 150 houses a week is scheduled to start in the spring. The area was declared a critical defense zone last month by Defense Mobilizer Chas. E. Wilson.

The huge project, to be completed in the next three years on thousands of acres of farm land, "will insure housing where and when it is needed in a critical defense area," Mr. Levitt said. "This is one vital defense center with a guarantee against a housing shortage and the kind of shanty-town construction so familiar in World War II," he added.

TONS OF STEEL

NEW YORK — (INS) — The Navy's new super-carrier, the James V. Forrestal, will contain 48,000 tons of steel. Steelways magazine says it will incorporate practically every type of alloy steel known to man, including some special steels developed purely for Naval purposes.

Square in Doylestown, exceptionally convenient to the court house. The final cost of this building will be $123,018.85, with an additional sum of $10,854.38 for parking space. All this was done without borrowing.

Even with all this large expenditure over and above normal expenses, there still is virtually certain to be a cash balance at the end of this year to be carried over into the next fiscal period. The cash on hand as of October 23 was $217,675.47, which probably will be considerably more than enough to meet the county government's costs for the next two months, not taking into account whatever new revenues which may come in during that period.

Are you interested in keeping economical, efficient government for Bucks County?

The way to do so is simple. It calls for voting Republican next Tuesday. For many years, this county's government has been Republican, and it is up to the voters to keep in office the team which had the know-how and the intention to maintain for the future the excellent standards it has met in the past.

You can vote for all the Republican candidates with a single crossmark. Simply look for the word Republican on the ballot you will receive at the polls next Tuesday, and put an "X" after it, thus:

QUAKERTOWN FAILS TO BE CRITICAL AREA*Ineligible for Easement In Steel for Needed
Buildings*NOT PROXIMITY ZONE

QUAKERTOWN, Nov. 1—Frank J. Schum, Administrative Assistant to the late Congressman Albert C. Vaughn, has advised why this area was not declared a critical defense area.

If this area were so designated there would be easement in securing steel and building materials by suppliers here for carpenters and builders as well as government support for mortgage loans at the banks. Buyers of houses would need less cash to secure mortgages.

"No area shall be determined to be a critical defense housing area unless the President finds that in such an area the following conditions exist:

(1) "A new defense plant or installation has been, or is to be provided, or an existing defense plant has been, or is to be reactivated, or its operations substantially expended;

(2) "Substantial immigration of labor (defense workers) is required to carry out the activities of such a plant or installation;

(3) "A substantial shortage of housing, (required for the defense workers), exists or impedes which threatens to impede the activities of such defense plant or installation;

(4) "Where community facilities or services (sewage, schools, hospitals, roads, water and sanitation), are not available or insufficient, thus placing the health and welfare of the immigration of the defense workers in jeopardy.

"I took up your request with Mr.

Crandall of the Critical Areas Committee and he informed me that Quakertown being out of the 'proximity zone' of Morrisville, could not be considered at this time and was almost certain that Quakertown could not meet the criteria necessary to be declared a critical area thus affording the resident of your town the rental housing under the Defense Housing and Community Facilities Act of 1951 that you are interested in.

"It is regrettable that I must send you this information.

"Sincerely,
"FRANK J. SCHUM,
"Administrative Assistant
"Congressman
"Albert C. Vaughn."

Two Events for The Girl Scouts Most Enjoyable

Twenty-one Girl Scouts of Troop No. 2, St. James P. E. Church, participated in a hike Saturday. The group followed the canal to Edgely where a "doggie" roast was held and a box lunch enjoyed. They were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Edward Priestley, "Bully" Priestley, and the co-leader, Mrs. Elwood Bilger.

On Monday evening, 37 members of the troop enjoyed a Halloween party in the parish house. During the grand march the following costume prizes were awarded: Prettiest, Ellen Morrow and Eva D'Onofrio; funniest, Joanne Williams and Eleanor Doan; most original, Shirley Braker. Games were played, and refreshments served. The party was under supervision of Mrs. Priestley and Mrs. Bilger.

The girls are asked to take to the meeting next Monday evening any arts, crafts or badge work made during their attendance at Browne or Girl Scout camps. These articles will be placed on exhibition.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Congressional appropriations for United States aid to 59 foreign countries between 1945 and 1952, inclusive, according to the State Department's own figures, total $35,235,594,000.

In view of the new 11 per cent income tax increase, Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth, Republican of Massachusetts, thought the total loan figures ought to be reduced to a level understandable by each and everyone of us taxpayers. He has taken the trouble to do so, discovering that in eight years a family of five in the U. S. has handed over $1,150 to the government for transfer to foreign lands. This figure is out at $230 each for every man, woman and child in America.

Averaged on the basis of population figures, U. S. taxpayers have paid out $115 to every living person in Europe; $10.25 to every man, woman and child in the Near East and Africa; $6.25 per capita in Asia and the Pacific, and $4.61 to every living soul in Latin America.

On the same population average basis, every resident of Great Britain, during the eight years, received a total of $135 in American aid cash. Total population of the United Kingdom is 50,800,000.

The Greeks got $187 each; the Austrians $132 each; Icelanders $159; Formosans, $209 each. We didn't neglect any one in the 59 countries, although residents of Nepal were aided only to the extent of an average of one cent each. Nepal has a population of 7,000,000.

The Indian government, which is unable to distinguish a Chinese Communist from a Chinese Nationalist, spent $104,213,000 of our money in eight years. This is 29 cents per Indian.

France got $105 in American money for each of the 42,700,000 Frenchmen, and each one of the 47,700,000 Germans in the Federal Republic got $74. The Yugoslavians picked up an average of $26 each after they started playing the role of anti-Muscovites.

In Latin America Chile topped the per capita list with $19.16 per Chilean. Mexicans were next with $8.39 each.

Since 1945 we U. S. taxpayers have handed over cash to governments representing a total of 2,274,503,000 people in the world. As a result of this largesse, some are our friends. The most enthusiastic, from reports brought back by American observers, are the Yugoslavians, who will stop Americans on the street to shake hands. The reason might be that they played patty cake with the Russians just long enough to get good and scared of the Kremlin. There are other lands where our generosity breeds contempt.

In Egypt, for instance, we passed out an average of 95 cents apiece in foreign aid for each Egyptian, but now they class us with the British in tossing anti-American insults around the sand dunes. The Iranians couldn't have been more insulting in their anti-American demonstrations during the oil crisis, although we have handed over $2.89 for each resident of that land, or a total of $17,000,000.

Of the $35,235,594,000 total we've handed out in loans and grants, $1,050,000,000 has been repaid on principal and $874,000,000 has been collected in the form of reverse grants and returns on grants. But don't let this fool you. All the while these 59 foreign countries have been building up a $9,000,000,000 kitty of so-called counterpart funds for their own use. These funds are in the form of the domestic currency of each country involved. They were made possible by U. S. loans and grants in the first place, and actually are nothing more than additional reservoirs for domestic spending in the particular country involved.

Of course, the $230 each of us have paid to aid foreign residents does not tell the whole story. In many of the appropriations for regular government departments there are millions of dollars in hidden funds for aid to other nations. But we're just getting started. On the basis of President Truman's new spending proposals we'll have the pleasure of coughing up for foreign military and economic aid during the next three years, just about double what we've paid out in the past eight years.

FUNCTION FOR JUNIORS

Jacqueline Wichser. Others attending: Dianne and Gail Dettmer; Laure Lee James, Kathleen Jones, Ann and Doris McClafferty; Frances Sugalski. Refreshments were served. The next meeting on Nov. 7th will be held at six p. m. in the post home.

Helping Your Child to Be A Part of the Family Circle

By LARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IT'S wonderful to see parents who seem constantly aware of the need to make each child in the family feel worthy. It has given Mrs. Myers and me great satisfaction to observe our own three children and their respective mates, each couple with four young children, revealing this awareness to a strong degree.

Perhaps they acquired some of this awareness in their childhood experiences and some, no doubt, by the grace of God. Mrs. Myers has had it in large measure. I have it, too, in theory, and have written much about it in this column and elsewhere.

Indirectly Rebuked

Yet, believe it or not, only several weeks ago I was indirectly rebuked by my daughter, then visiting us with her four little children.

I had gone for blackberries with the two older ones, 9 and 7. The berries were plentiful and both children picked berries assiduously. The lad 7, had almost a quart of them. Then his interest lagged and he gave up picking and went to eating till he could eat no more, without interference. Later, he roamed about not far from us and inquired more and more frequently when we were going home.

His sister continued faithfully till the end of about two hours. She picked about half as many berries as I did. While her persistence was unusual for a child so young, her brother probably exceeded the average for his age.

Serious Error

During luncheon I made a serious error. I exulted over how many berries Karen picked, implying by silent contrast her brother's poor achievement, whereupon the mother added, "And Kenty did well, too." Sensitive to the mother's rebuke, I tried to repair the damage I had done.

Right now I can recall a number of occasions when I was, by implication, rebuked by one of the young parents of the other two foursofomes of grandchildren with similar remarks after I had committed such errors. All this goes to show how much easier it is to advise parents and grandparents than to follow my own instructions! One consolation I have: that I am sufficiently sensitive to the matter thus to discover some of my mistakes.

Little Contention

Anyway, there seemed to be very little contention and quarrelling among the two quartets of grandchildren visiting us in recent months. We have not seen the other grandchildren for a few years, but when we last did see them, they, too, seemed to get along together pretty amicably—which fact leads me to conclude that the manifest awareness of their parents to the need of helping each child feel himself a worthy member of his family bears good results.

As you and I know very well, any child in a family group who feels he does not stand as well in the group as the other children, is not very happy and is pretty sure to be quarrelsome. This feeling of not being worthy is called jealousy. (My bulletin, "Jealousy" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce.

Pennsylvania State Taxes Lighter Than In 15 Other States

Due to the inflation of our currency, the increased cost of materials and labor and the growing responsibilities of State Government, taxes in all the states in the nation have increased in the past ten years, but a recent report of the United States Census shows that Pennsylvania's state taxes have increased less than those of 15 of the 48 states. This report on State Tax Collections in 1951 records the fact that our state's increase between 1942 and 1951 was 57.4 per cent below the national average.

It is interesting to consider, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out, that during these same ten years Pennsylvania, with the third lowest increase in taxes, has conducted our nation's most vigorous highway improvement program; has engaged in an extensive undertaking for clearing the waters of its rivers from pollution; has performed the greatest dredging operation ever conducted by any state in removing 20,000,000 cubic yards of accumulated silt from the bed of the Schuylkill, and has made notable additions to its hospitals and mental institutions.

If state taxes are compared with the income of the people, which is a measure of the relative burden imposed by the cost of government, Pennsylvania is also among the lowest states in the nation. Only three others of the 48 states, and only one in the east require a lower percentage of all personal and business income to conduct the many responsibilities devolving upon their government.

As one evidence of how this has been accomplished, another recent federal report on State Government Employment in 1951 shows that Pennsylvania's state employees decreased 4.9 per cent between April 1950 and April 1951, at a time when total state employment in the nation was still rising.

The decrease in the total number of Pennsylvania state employees in the year ending April 1951 as reported by the Census Bureau was 3,300.

In addition to these evidences of relatively low taxes imposed by the State upon its citizens is the fact that Pennsylvania, in the year ending May 31, 1951, was among the lowest fourth of the states in taxes per capita.

During September and October, the society made arrangements for a patient to be admitted to Hamburg Sanatorium; and two patients to be admitted to All Saints hospital; supplied cars for one patient; supplied clothing for two; supplied material for patch tests to be given to pre-school children; and service to patients: emergency relief, temporary care, carefare to sanatorium, and necessary clothing.

Among those X-rayed were the following: Trunk shadows, seven (ages 8 to 14—1 66 years of age); heart check, 17 (15 ages 7 to 19—two over 40); re-rays, five (ages 10 to 31—one 69 years of age); elevated diaphragm, two (ages 34 to 49); pleural thickness, one adult; costo-phrenic obliterated, two (ages 19 to 22); broken clavicle, one (age five). All food handlers, bus drivers and janitors have been X-rayed free of charge. During the last survey, the society X-rayed in 17 communities.

All supplies have been received for the seal sale and are being prepared for mailing in November. Scholarships were given to four school nurses attending the health workshop at West Chester State Teachers College.

Representatives attended two meetings of the planning board in regards to the U. S. Steel Co. in lower Bucks County; also attended a conference at Mt. Alto.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

NOBODY is suggesting that you have your Sunday dinner in a tent, but here is a recipe originated by the nomads of the Eastern desert and enjoyed everywhere in the world where people live to eat as well as eat to live. Suggested by the A & P Service for Homemakers, its Oriental name has been translated into "a meal on a stick."

Cut into generous-sized chunks, but do not peel, one or two whole cucumbers; 8-12 large scallions; one or two whole, under-ripe tomatoes; one large green pepper and one-quarter pound mushrooms. Cut into one-inch cubes a pound of lamb or beef.

Rub lemon juice or vinegar on meat cubes. Skewer alternate pieces of meat, vegetables and mushrooms on four metal skewers (wooden sticks will serve the purpose, too). Coat all skewered pieces with melted butter or margarine—a half cup is needed for the entire recipe—and cook a few inches from the flame in the broiler, turning frequently. You'll need a store-bought or makeshift rack that will permit turning the skewers. After about 15 minutes of heat, remove from fire, season with salt and pepper and coat again with butter or margarine.

Serve on individual plates and let the diners pull out the skewers. Cottage cheese on lettuce leaves with a topping of crushed pineapple makes the kind of salad that will complement the main dish. For dessert, try rice pudding with raisins, topped with nutmeg.

Technicolor-Type Cosmetics Have Faded To Natural Tones

"Easy does it," is Movie Star Nancy Davis's rule for make-up. She chooses all her cosmetics in delicate, natural shades.

By HELEN FOLLETT

LIKE fashions and figures, feminine faces undergo style changes and that makes life a bit more exciting. We no longer go to extremes with make-up, except in the use of the lipstick, which is the dominating note in hand-painted maps.

Blushes have faded down to the faint wild rose variety, sometimes are dispensed with entirely. Powders are less colorful, toning down to creamy tints or delicate golden ones. Eye shadows are worn in the evening but, unless they are mere shades of shadows, you are breaking a beauty law.

Considering the variety of lipsticks, the smarty-girls supply themselves with a whole flock of them. The idea is to select the tone that complements the color of the frock or hat one wears. That seems to make sense. To have cherry lips and a fuchsia-colored blouse is to create a color clash that is irritating to sensitive eyes.

Fresh young faces can get away with vivid lips—though often they should select more natural tones. Soft wine shades are the safest bet for older faces that show the marks of age or fatigue. The lipstick is one cosmetic that has been accepted as privileged to show, but that does not mean the privilege should be abused, as it so often is.

Glamorizing Complexion

The wise woman, these competitive days, brings her face up to date. If she feels that she is not making the most of her beauty props she should go to a beauty shop, have a facial treatment, observe what a skilled operator can do in the way of glamorizing the complexion. She will be told what colors are best for her skin—colors of rouge, powder and lipstick—and she will be taught how to use them to best advantage.

The fact that many of the sisters are anything but expert when endeavoring to put on make-up is proof enough that there is much to be learned about pulchritude building.

then cut them into thin slices and float on the soup.

Bacon takes the same position as franks served over celery soup. Cook the bacon strips slowly until crisp, then dice and sprinkle on the soup servings. Cream of mushroom becomes all the more interesting with the addition of bacon or heated ham cubes. Another serving for ham, combine tomatoes and split pea soup, cut the ham in either cubes or julienne strips for combining with the soup.

Add Zest To Soups With Meat

Vegetable soup generously filled with beef cubes is a lunch favorite for fall. However, this is merely a beginning. Meat may be added to various soups to spark new interest.

Split pea soup, for instance, has a hearty addition in plump frankfurter slices. Suggests Reba Staggs, home economist, heat the franks,

PUMPKIN PIE IS GOOD EATING; IS VITAMIN "A" SOURCE

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Pumpkin pie is a favorite at any time but especially so for fall and winter meals. Besides its popularity, pumpkin pie is a good source of vitamin A, iron, and calcium. A piece of pie, four and a half inches at its widest part, will provide one-third of the vitamin A needed for one day.

Some families like a pumpkin custard with few spices; others like a dark, spicy pie. But whatever kind of pie is preferred, the crust is very important.

Perfection in pastry making is an easily acquired art. Follow a good standard recipe. Be sparing with the water and don't overmix. Hand dle dough as little and as lightly as possible and chill after mixing. Use a pastry cloth of medium weight cotton canvas or duck and stockinette on your rolling pin. This cuts down on the flour needed to roll the dough.

For a change from the traditional pumpkin custard, try pumpkin chiffon pie:

3 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/4 cups pumpkin, cooked or canned
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
3 egg whites, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1 9-inch baked pastry shell.
Beat egg yolks and 1/2 cup sugar

until thick. Add pumpkin, milk, salt, and spices. Cook in double boiler until thick. Put in gelatin which has been softened in the 1/4 cup cold water; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten with the second 1/2 cup sugar. Pour into cooked pastry shell and chill. Top with sweetened whipped cream and chopped pecans.

Fall's Apple Pie In All Its Guises

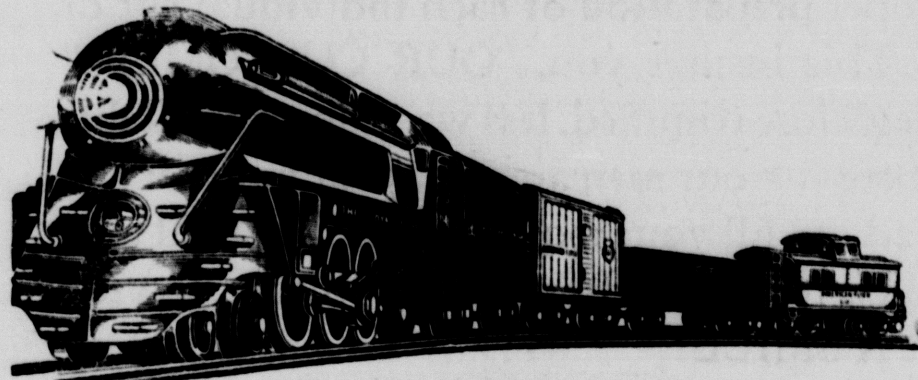

Apple harvest leads to a round of tempting desserts. Notable among the choices is apple pie. To many, apple pie is apple pie, but for the adventuresome cook here are ways to bring this dessert to the table in various guises.

For instance, the filling of the pie may be made entirely of grated raw apple. Raisins may be included with the apples for more flavor variation. Grated cheese may be sprinkled under the top crust or even added to the crust. A mixture of flour, butter and sugar may be sprinkled over the top of the filling before adding the top pastry.

Open-face pie versions present an opportunity to show off the filling. Design an apple from the pastry for topping big pies or tarts—not forgetting the apple leaves. Or weave pastry strips over the filling. For the finest results in tenderness and flakiness every time, use lard as shortening. Cut the lard into the flour-salt mixture until the crumbs are pea size. Then add water, a little at a time, working it quickly through the mixture. Roll the pastry out to about 1/8-inch thickness.
